Mushroom Thirty Inches In Diameter

Frederick D. Greene, who has been staying at the home of Homer Foster on Central street, has seen many a mushroom, but last week he found one up off Phillips street that was like none he'd ever seen before.

It was bigger than your head, as you can see from the picture of Frederick D. Greene, 2nd, grandson of Mr. Greene, shown holding the find. It weighed two pounds, six ounces, and was 30 inches in circumference. And that's a lot of mushroom? Imagine how many pounds of steak you'd need.

The young man in the picture is the son of Dr. Phillips Greene, who is just back from China where he was head of the Yale-in-China Medical school.

Signalman Bailey On Historic Boat

Two weeks ago when Signalman Charles R. Bailey, third class, wrote home to his aunt, Mrs. Elven W. Gilfoy of 29 Summer street, that the American cruiser Augusta, on which he is on duty, was to go on another of its secret trips, little was he aware that it would be on that very vessel that two world leaders would meet. Later he was to find out that he was stationed on the vessel that was to be the scene of the momentous meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, an event of historic importance.

Signalman Bailey visited Andover about six weeks ago and renewed acquaintances. He was graduated from Pynchard high school in 1939 and enlisted in the navy three months later.

ALL A MYSTERY

This year's Methodist Church Sunday School picnic will be a mystery from start to finish. You won't even know what you'll get to eat in spite of the fact that you will pack your own lunch. The destination and the program for the day are being kept in strict secrecy. The only facts which the committee has divulged are that the mysterious event is to take place on Saturday, August 23, and that cars will leave the Methodist Church to take you, you know not where, at ten o'clock in the morning. You are asked to pack what you think is sufficient lunch for yourself, and then all the lunches will be pooled to form a co-operative lunch or what is commonly known as "Community Stew." Children will receive free transportation, but adults will be asked to pay a small fee to the driver to help defray his expenses.

The Misses Sweeney of Florence street are vacationing at Old Orchard Beach, Maine.

MARK 45TH ANNIVERSARY

Tourney Awards At Playgrounds

At the various field day exercises held in the Central, Shawsheen and Ballardvale playgrounds on Friday and Monday evenings, the following awards were made:

Central playground: Jackstone winners were Barbara Quill, Alice Surette and Frances Surette, first, second and third prizes, respectively. Checkers, first prize went to Patricia Roberston; second, Philip Markey; and third, Ruth Sutcliffe. Phyllis Heifetz won the sandbuilding prizes followed by a tie between Edward Dodge and Robert Henry. Heel toss awards went to Blanche Poremba, Patricia Mazer and Zita Surette. William Dole walked away with horseshoe awards, and was followed by Ruth Gregory. Ping-pong honors went to William Dele and Albert Taylor.

Shawsheen playground: Champion checker players in the Village are Marie Riley, Robert King and Francis Sheehan, respectively. John King won paddle tennis, with the runners-up Robert Creamer and Benjamin Baldwin. Heel toss was won by Eleanor Roberge, second prize to Marie Riley, and third to Elaine MacLellan. There was a tie between John Barry and Fred Cole in the box hockey; and the horseshoe tournament was won by Robert Creamer, seconded by John King. Robert Creamer is the "ping-pong king," but Paul Weamer and John King were close at hand. Charles Koza is the sand architect in the Village.

Ballardvale: The local winners were as follows: Heel Toss, Charles Partridge; Box Hockey, Robert Ness; Ping Pong, John Murnane; Horseshoes, John Murnane; Sand-building, John Ness; and Checkers, John Murnane.

Inter-playground Tournament playoffs will be held Tuesday, August 26, on the Shawsheen playground.

GRANGE TO MEET

Andover Grange, No. 183, will hold their August meeting on Tuesday evening, August 26, in Grange Hall. After the routine business, the members will travel in cars to the home of Ebba Peterson, Greenwood road, where a corn roast will be held. There will be a small admission charge.

Costs Money To Show Wrong License

One of the things you definitely don't do is show a police officer somebody else's license when he asks to see yours. Ask Harry Goldberg of Malden, because he knows and it cost him 35 perfectly good American dollars to find out.

Harry was driving along Main street on August 12 when a blue-coated fellow named Carl Stevens drove up alongside, and suggested that Harry hadn't been too careful about driving on the right side of the road. Of course Carl asked to see his license and Harry presented him with a case containing license and registration. Carl then asked Harry his birth date, and strangely enough it didn't jibe with what was on the license.

Investigation revealed that Harry's license expired June 27, he was driving the car for somebody else and therefore showed the other man's license. It just doesn't work.

Now We Know

We're Republican here in Andover. We haven't cared particularly for the fellow who went off fishing last week and met another fisherman from Great Britain. And when we examine things that he proposes, we're a little inclined to take it only after we've salted it pretty well.

We're Americans here in Andover. We like America, sweet land of liberty. We'd give our lives to defend and preserve these United States of ours, and we wouldn't hesitate a minute. We would do anything to make America safe, to make America peaceful, to make America prosperous.

We're Christians here in Andover—but don't we here and doesn't everybody everywhere pay too little attention to the doctrines of Christianity? Aren't we too busy trying to make our own country prosperous to think of other countries? Aren't we too busy thinking of our own party beliefs to judge the ideas of our President on their merits?

An eight-point program came as the result of that little fishing-trip of the President. He and England's Churchill agreed on it, and it beats any new World Order that has come out of Brenner Pass conferences. It is based fundamentally on the fundamental basis of Christianity: loving thy neighbor.

Many of us in America have felt that were we to partake of this present struggle, we would be no better off than we were after the last war and in another twenty years we would be in a World War III. And as it was going, we had no guarantee that the treaties that came out of this war would be any more permanently satisfactory than the Versailles treaty that came out of the last. All we knew was that Great Britain's aim was to destroy Hitlerism, and although that cause might have a good bit of merit to it, there seemed no more hope for permanent peace than the war which destroyed the Hohenzollern dynasty. For it was not getting at the roots of the thing.

Now we have aims. We know now, before we've entered the war, what we would be fighting for were we to enter it. Wilson's fourteen points, to which these eight have been compared, came after we had entered the last war. Great Britain is now pledged to us, and we are pledged to Great Britain to create and maintain certain conditions after the conclusion of this war, and if they are maintained, it should bring prosperity and so permanent peace to all. Keeping one nation down won't bring permanent peace—that certainly has been proved emphatically. But by giving everyone a fair chance to live decently, to eat three good meals, you've destroyed the seeds that bring Hitlerism, Communism and Fascism. People, if they haven't been oppressed by Czars or held down by vindictive imperialism, won't flee to such things as Nazism. If people are decently fed, if they've been given the right to life, they will secure for themselves the rights to liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We can forget party; we can forget country; we can now look forward with hope to a future in which everybody, regardless of country, is trying to help everybody else get along. There will be Hitlers, but a well-fed, happy populace will pay no attention to them.

One More To Go

A bill in which the town of Andover has been intensely interested comes up before the Senate for final vote shortly after Labor day, and unless some of those things happen that make us wonder if our office-holders act as their consciences tell them they should, the bill should pass and Governor Saltonstall should sign it.

In the spring when the bill to permit mutual insurance companies to have the same privileges to write non-assessable policies that stock companies have was first brought before the legislature, to the average trusting Andover mind it seemed apparent that no legislator could conscientiously vote against it. And naturally, we were interested in it, for insurance is one of Andover's big businesses, and anything that would increase the flow of business to this town means additional employment for townspeople.

There were no valid reasons for anyone's voting against the bill. Stock companies have to have a certain capital by law, whereas mutual companies don't, and in the old days law insisted that mutual companies write into their policies a stipulation that the policyholder could be assessed a certain sum if need be. This was apparently in the event of a major conflagration, where the losses would be so heavy that the company couldn't stand it.

But facts today don't make the assessment clause a necessity. Most all mutual companies carry a reserve that measures up with the stock company requirements, and it would be no more necessary for them to assess their policyholders than it would be for the stock companies with equal capital to go under in a conflagration. Up to this year forty-six of our states had recognized that situation, and during the past few months New Hampshire has modified its law to meet the facts. Today Massachusetts stands alone with an outmoded, discriminatory law on its books.

It hurts us here in Andover. Agents representing the local companies sell all over the nation, and they are in competition with agents of stock companies and agents of non-Massachusetts mutuals who pounce upon the assessment clause as an argument against Andover's companies. That shouldn't be. The bill as drawn up makes the financial requirements as airtight as they are for stock companies, and it doesn't weaken the insurance structure at all.

Our local representatives, Collins, Schlapp and Pedler, with the representatives from around this neighborhood helped greatly in pushing the bill through the House by a truly overwhelming vote. In the Senate our former representative, Senator Tom Lane, was prominent in the fight that has seen it go successfully through two readings, although Senator Babcock, now representing Andover, did not see fit to support the bill. It has one more reading to go through, and unless some wires are pulled that shouldn't be pulled it will go through, and it will mean a lot to this town of ours.

American citizens! Heed the declaration of emergency by our President! Buy Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps regularly.

SIFTINGS

We knew it would come to dictatorship sooner or later. Shep out with the coast guard, Ev in the hospital; it looked as if we'd have to be saying "Hell Hardy."

Does the old gag about running out of gas strike a more authentic note with the girls these nights?

Why is it that "Fourteen more days until school" doesn't sound the same to children as "Fourteen more days until Christmas."

If England wins and the peace terms are as planned, it will have been proved that only in one sense were Roosevelt and Churchill all at sea.

We suppose the government will add insult to injury by increasing our income tax because the gas tax that we used to use as an exemption has fallen off.

Harmony Club Loses Semi-finals

The Harmony club lost the second semi-final game in the league play-offs last Thursday night, when the Roches defeated them 2 to 0, the previous result having been a 1 to 0 victory for the Roches. Each team made six hits and played errorless ball. Each left seven men on base. The Roche pitcher passed only one, and Ferguson passed but two, although he had two wild pitches.

Sunday Evening Program At Topsfield Fair

This year for the first time in the long history of the Essex County Agricultural Society, the Topsfield Fair will present a program on Sunday evening. Ordinarily the Fair, which opens Wednesday, September 3, would close late in the afternoon Sunday, September 7, but so many requests were received last year for a Sunday night performance of the world championship rodeo, which again will be a feature this year, that officials decided to arrange a complete afternoon and evening program that would prove fully as entertaining as those offered on any of the preceding four days.

As a matter of fact, the Sunday afternoon and evening rodeo performances will be special treats inasmuch as they will include the semi-finals and finals of the broncho-busting, bulldogging, trick riding, calf-roping and fancy roping contests, which provide some of the show's chief thrills.

Hoot Gibson, one of the screen's most popular western actors, will be with the rodeo as a guest star, and with his famous horse, "Pal," will re-enact exciting riding, roping and shooting sequences from some of his pictures.

In observance of the Agricultural society's 120th anniversary Fair, the Fall Flower Show, long one of the exposition's most widely acclaimed attractions, has been enlarged and will have a new and breath-takingly beautiful setting. The flower shadow boxes, so admired last year, again will be featured.

Despite the fact they provided another large barn for the department, officials have long since had to stop accepting entries of blooded Guernsey, Holstein and Ayrshire cattle and the Fair's best show is assured.

Easy Way to the "One Hot Dish"

SUMMERTIME with its various pleasures and many activities offers an excuse for serving very light fare with cold foods such as salads, fruits and frozen desserts, it's the one hot dish. By far the easiest and quickest way to prepare this is to toast open-face sandwiches in the broiler of your modern gas range which will broil and brown evenly a full dozen at a time, in ten minutes or less according to the type of sandwich.

Refreshments were served to about 75 friends who attended from Connecticut, Auburndale, Clinton, Wellesley, Newton and Andover, by Mrs. George Carmichael, Mrs. Harold Linnell and Mrs. Davis.

During the evening, several short readings were presented by Mrs. Mildred Beardsley Gibbs, a graduate of the Currie School of Expression in Boston.
